Client

Airbus

Problem

Having to store a large amount of very long paper tubes in a confined space. The tubes are round and do not stack well.

Solution

Packaging Services Industries, along with our business partner, developed a just in time business model which allows us to warehouse and transport these tubes in an efficient manner for delivery to our customer when needed.

This allows our customer to use less labor in daily operations, as well as frees up storage space by not having to back-stock as many units as they previously required.
